“ In loving memory of my Aunt, Juanita , whose kindness shaped my life in ways words can barely hold. She gave love freely, wisdom gently, and joy abundantly. Always teaching the importance and value of a good meal among friends and family. She taught me how to cook and shell peas.

She showed me the characteristics of a strong African American women. Her presence was a gift because she demonstrated that you could have your own successful business and own your own home. If you can dream, you can do it!

I will carry her laughter, her love for Issac Hayes and Aretha Franklin music and her lessons of marriage and love with me always.
