*Those special memories of you will always bring a smile.
If only I could have you back,
for just a little while.
Then we could sit and talk again,
just like we used to do.
You always meant so very much and always will too.
The fact that we're no longer here*

Praying for you Laverne and your entire family. There Are No Words
Helen Steiner Rice/revised by C. Henry

*There are no words ...what can I say?
At last their sweet soul winged its way
To peace and freedom in the sky
Where never again will they suffer or cry.
It's all part of God's great plan ...
Which remains a mystery to man.
We cannot understand His ways
Nor can we count our earthly days.
But who are we to question and doubt?
God knoweth well what He's about;
He knew they longed to "go to sleep"
Where only angels, a vigil keep.
The pain of living grew too great
No longer could they stay and wait;
They did not want to leave you, dear,
But they had finished their work down here.
So they closed their eyes and when they awoke,
These are the words the Master spoke ...
"Welcome, dear children, you are Home at last,
And now the burden of living is past."
"There's work for both of you in My Kingdom, dear
And both are needed and wanted here."
So weep not, they have just gone on ahead,
Don't think of them as being dead.
They're out of sight for a little while,
And you'll miss their touch and their little smile,
But you know they are safe in the home above
Where there is nothing but Peace and Love.
And, surely, you would not deny them peace ...
And you're glad that they have found release.
Think of them there as a soul that is free,
And Home at last, where they wanted to be.*
